

TOLU.

Charlie Waldon is yet a very sick man. But a hope of his recovery is entertained by his friends.

The beautiful little baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Bookner Croft has been on the sick list for several but we are glad to report it as improving.

The grocery house and lunch store of Blons & Black is doing a fair business. With their generous days and efficient cook meals are served at all hours and short notice.

Mrs Ernest Hodge and son Fred of Hodgenville, Ill., are visiting Mrs. Hodge's father, Mr. T. A. McAnis, of this place.

Capt. Newman, a well-known Ohio river steamboat pilot, visited his father-in-law, T. A. McAnis, and brother-in-law, Joe Taylor and W. P. Ordier, last week.

Rev. R. T. McConnell, with his handsome young bride, returned Saturday from the former home of the bride and will make their home with the family of J. O. McAnis until the parsonage is completed.

Rev. R. T. McConnell preached at his church in this place Sunday last.

Hey, don't you think it about time the Tolz and Laving band teams were ringing off?

We notice that last week's Press places in nomination the name of Thos. H. Cochran of Marion for Representative in the next Legislature. Whilst we realize the fact that Mr. Cochran is a good man, and would make a true Representative, we have another good man, quite as deserving as is Mr. Cochran, and one that every decent in both countries would feel it an honor to have an opportunity to support. And this man is no other than A. J. Baenait, who is well known all over the legislative district as a true blue democrat and one that would pride himself in looking after the interest of his many friends and constituents.

We have the largest line of saddles ever in Crittenden county. Quality best and prices right.

Marion Hdw. Co.
BARNETT.

Will Miller and wife of Cave-in-Rock are visiting Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thompson.

Charles Buckley and family who have been visiting Lakeview sometime have returned home.

Moises Otto and Lee Karpoff of Lexington county, passed here last Monday en route to Marion.

Our brother, Hugh Watson, is very sick.

Jasper Walker, of Lexington, was in our vicinity Tuesday.

John Warren, of Hardwick, was here Thursday.

Uncle Stone, of Frank, passed here Sunday.

Albert Steele and Henry Adkins visited Pleasant Ridge school Friday.

Albert Thompson is hauling saw logs to Hardwick.

A. F. Franklin was in our vicinity Monday.

We are expecting a large crowd at the spelling match at Barnett Friday night.

Equality of Man the Inspiring Thought of the Ages

By MICHAEL J. JORDAN,
Former President of the Irish Charitable Society.

IT HAS been said that the only reality is an idea. Whether this is true or not, it is safe to say that no reality has more strongly impressed itself upon the minds of reformers in all ages, and, I think, been fraught with more benefit to the human species than this idea of equality, when properly understood.

Doubtless there are many good Americans who believe that this principle, as set out in the declaration of independence, was the first proclamation of the equality of man, that it had never been previously asserted, and that the signers of the declaration were its first political sponsors. It may be noted in passing how few accurately quote the words of the declaration—"all men are created equal," and also that the words of the constitution of Massachusetts, embodying a similar idea, are not the same—"All men are born free and equal."

To understand the meaning of the words it will be necessary to glance at their origin. Herodotus tells us the government of the many had the most beautiful name of all—in Greek, "economia," or equality. Socrates evidently had before him the idea of similarity of rights when he said: "The chief part of equity is equality." But it was from the old Stoic philosophers that the Roman lawyers took the idea and defined: "Omnes homines natura aequales sunt"—all men by nature are equal. This was strictly a principle to be followed in the administration of law. The law should make no distinction between men of any race or clime. The idea was well known in later days in Europe and probably influenced Louis X of France in the preamble to his decree emancipating the serfs, as may be judged by these strong words: "Whereas, according to natural law, everybody ought to be free." Rousseau, and the French philosophers known as the encyclopedists, for the purpose of rectifying the social and legal status of the great masses of the French people, asserted the equal rights of all men. This is the meaning of equality as contained in the great baptismal vow of the American nation—the declaration of independence.

It does not, of course, mean that all men are created equal in the sense that their taste, color, height and weight are equal. It does not mean that the material wealth of one man should not be greater than that of another. It simply means, as its history clearly implies—for there is no doubt that the idea came to America from the French philosopher to whom I referred—that all men are equal before the law. In the former sense Balzac well says: "Equality may be a beautiful theory, no one yet has seen it an accomplished fact." In the latter view it is, according to Sir Henry Maine, a principle "which has most thoroughly lowered modern opinion, and which promises to modify most deeply the constitution of societies and the policies of states." In this sense it has made America.

A man may speak the thing he will.

Incompetent Teachers

BY PROF. CAMILLO VON KLENZE, OF GERMANY.

The teachers are really charming fellows and it would be a pity to turn them out, but they are essentially bad.

The Americans are trying unsuccessfully to ape German methods. The German boy is trained in the gymnasium and properly fitted to take up university work, while the average American boy is poorly prepared for the university work when he is admitted to the university. Few American boys know what they want to study or why they want to study it when they go to college.

Not so in Germany. There the boy fits himself to take up a certain university work. When the American boy goes to college and the American method of university teaching is applied it fails to work.

The trouble is that the Americans have their college and university methods mixed and hence the teachers know which method to apply or how to apply it.

Comparatively few men of the first intellectual class are going through college. Our students don't know exactly what they are going to college for. They don't know what modern education means. We turn out hundreds of "Ph. D's" who take their "Ph. D's" simply to get a job. They ask for the doctor's certificate as they would for a glass of water. Then they plod through it and when it is finished they leave the field for lack of employment in some other field presents itself. Some have done a little work in a little field, and are absolutely good for nothing else. They feel a claim to greatness because they have plodded over their doctor's thesis and have been given the hood.

American university students do not keep in touch with the trend of things. They book themselves up in their specialties and stay there.

Children Should Be Heard

BY JOHN N. VAN VART,

Chicago.

It is time we outgrew the old stage. "Children should be seen and not heard." It is justice to the child and in harmony with the most advanced modern methods of discipline and development of child mind, the stage might well be bowed to now. Children should be heard as well as seen.

Children have their rights in the home as well as father and mother. One of these rights is to be heard. To be constantly suppressing the impulse of the child to give expression to his thoughts robs mental development, robs the children of the faculty of thinking clearly and speaking correctly and fluently, and destroys that pose and self-respect and independence of thought which are so essential in the growth and welfare of a nation. We cannot expect that the soul is going to possess those desirable qualifications if in the first 12 years of its life it has known nothing but aggression and suppression, and its opinions have been scorned as of no weight or value.

It is just as impossible and shows less as bad breeding to cut off your child in conversation as to cut off your wisdom. And you cannot see that your child will have respect for your conversation and opinions if you do not show the consideration for his conversation and opinions, when honestly expressed. Let the children be heard.

Kingsbury Pianos
